How Everything Works

At every event, points are earned & points mean prizes, so how do we calculate them???

There are three events that take place during each round of the League 2000;

'Skills Test,' 'Time Trial' & 'Handicapped Road Race.' The handicaps are based on the personal bests in the time trial and not on the times done each week (unless a PB).

Each event counts towards the overall score for that night.

The winner gets 1 point, 2nd 2 points and so on. This gives the overall placings for the night and does not take into consideration age groups.

This is worked out at a later time. The highest placed in the age group will get 100 points towards their seasons total, 2nd 95 points 3rd 90 points, 85, 80, 75, 70, 69, 68 etc.

The best 10 point scores over the 12 rounds are taken towards the final placings.

Results are published after each event and a prize presentation takes place at the end of the year.
